

123 Electronic Distributor

AWP026D

£433.50

£520.20 inc VAT

Product Description:

123 Electronic Distributor

The last distributor you will ever need is now available for your Aston.

The "123 Distributor"™ designed by www.tdcperformance.ca is a revolutionary design that allows you to have the exact ignition curve that you need. The all new fully electronic billet distributor has been programmed with 16 different advance curves that are easily switched. The 16 different advance curves are based on the original factory Lucas distributors as used in the many different models, the 123 Distributor is the one and only distributor you will ever need.

The 123 Distributor is fully electronic and thus not only does it have electronic (non-mechanical) points but it also has an electronic microprocessor controlled advance curve " 16 of them in fact. Most mechanical distributors will show a deterioration of the advance curve after only a few years.

The 123's™ electronic design results in both a fantastic selection of curves and a curve that is not subject to the wearing of mechanical components. The 123 Distributor is a direct replacement for any Lucas distributor.

Negative ground only.